

Alina Gainetdinova
LIS 258. Museum Informatics
Dr. Christine M. Angel

Dublin Core (DC) Metadata Construction

Dublin Core	Element Description
Contributor	Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum
Coverage	USA
Coverage	New York
Coverage	Tiffany Studios
Coverage	1900-1910
Coverage	20 th Century
Creator	Driscoll, Clara
Date	2018-02-10
Description	This lamp, given to the collection by Andrew and Louise Carnegie's only child, Margaret Carnegie Miller, was used in the family's Skibo Castle in Scotland. The lamp has always been wired for electricity, a technology Carnegie eagerly embraced. The lamp designed by Clara Driscoll in Tiffany Studios. The shade of oversized dragonflies one of Tiffany's most popular motifs.
Format	JPEG

Format	819 x 1024 pixels
Identifier	http://info-matic.org/?p=907
Publisher	Info-matic.org
Publisher	Gainetdinova Alina
Relation	Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum
Relation	Product Design and Decorative Arts
Rights	Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum
Source	Passion for the Exotic: Japonism Exhibition at the Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum http://cprhw.tt/o/2CM3B/
Subject	Lamp
Subject	Tiffany Studios
Subject	Dragonfly
Subject	Design
Subject	Driscoll, Clara
Subject	Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum
Title	DRAGONFLY, MODEL 1462 (SHADE) LAMP, 1900–10
Type	Image
Type	Text
Type	Object